PARTNERS & PROGRAMS

“The challenges faced by India are truly diverse and cannot have a standardized solution. It is essential to identify local solutions for local challenges. Through the thingQbator model, students have produced some compelling technology-based solutions for local problems. It is also a great example of how Cisco’s technology is being leveraged to catalyze young innovators. By implementing this unique program, Brahma3 has added immense value to our CSR program and we are proud of this partnership.”
